DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

The phrase "The present invention relates to" should be removed from the abstract.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bemis.

In regard to claim 1, Bemis discloses a pipe sealing clamp, the improvement being the attachment of the inner sleeve B' to the clamping band B by means of at least two metallic fasteners b3, the metallic fasteners that penetrate the flexible inner sleeve (see cross section shown in fig. 2) being arranged to contact the metallic pipes when the assembly is tightened, to form continuous electrical connection of the pipes.

In regard to claim 3, the metallic fasteners are rivets.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bemis in view of Newell. Bemis discloses a pipe sealing clamp as described above, but does not disclose that the inner sleeve is coupled to the clamp by bolts. Newell teaches that using bolts to secure an inner seal to the outer clamp is well known and common in the art. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to replace the rivets of Bemis with bolts, because they are well known equivalents, as demonstrated by Newell.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed on 10/19/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Bemis does not disclose a flexible inner sleeve or metallic fasteners being arranged to contact metallic pipes when the assembly is tightened. However, Bemis discloses a rivet b3 that passes through both a clamp B and an inner sleeve B' as shown in cross section in fig. 2. The rivet would have to pass through the inner sleeve B' in order for the rivet to sandwich B' against B and hold the two components together. Because the rivet passes through both B and B' it would have to come into contact with a metallic tubes A. Inner sleeve B' is flexible as it bends to the contour of the inner surface of clamp B as it is tightened down by b' as the clamp goes from that shown in fig. 2 to that shown in fig. 4.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
